Is flexibility a good investment in France for grid-scale battery projects?

Aurora Energy Research has published a flexibility market report showing a significant improvement in market conditions in France for grid-scale battery projects

How fast will the battery market grow in 2025?

After a dip in 2024, the battery market is expected to re-accelerate total installations to 36% annual growth. With 29.7 GWh deployed in 2024 under the Medium Scenario, the battery market is expected to regain speed with a 36% annual growth, installing in a single year

Will high-consumption batteries benefit from higher import tariffs?

Aurora estimates an additional 2% increase in IRR above the reference case, driven by consumption during peak production periods. However, batteries located in high-consumption areas are not expected to experience significant benefits, as higher import tariffs would offset revenues during peak hours.

How can government support the adoption of home batteries?

Government support schemes play a crucial role in promoting the adoption of residential batteries by helping households lower initial investment costs. In Europe, direct support for home batteries typically falls into two categories: coupled with 3.5 MWh BESS, such as in Bruchsal, Germany, and standalone home battery programs.

How much capacity will BESS provide in 2025?

BESS is expected to provide 55% of new capacity in 2025, and is expected to further increase. By 2029, the share of grid-scale BESS will grow to 68% of annual additions, with the BTM segment providing less than a third of the capacity. By that year,
