

Are there standard Australian contracts for EPC & EPCM?

There are no standard Australian contracts for EPC or EPCM, and careful drafting of contracts is important. FIDIC international contracts are available. It's important to adapt contract approaches to the local context in Malaysia. Here are some practical tips for choosing the right contract:

What is an EPC contract?

With an EPC contract, you, the client, have minimal involvement with the various contractors and suppliers; the main contractor handles all of that. The key point is that the contractor takes on all the project risks and delivers the final result. What are EPCM Contracts? Now, EPCM is a bit different.

Should you choose an EPC contract for a construction project?

Keep these points in mind when considering EPC: Limited control: You have minimal say in the construction process. Dependence on the contractor: The project's success relies heavily on the contractor's competence. Higher costs: EPC contracts are typically more expensive because the contractor takes on more risk.

What is EPC consortium stackyard to shiploading system?

EPC Consortium Stackyard to Shiploading System is the only one stop station for continuous dry bulk cargo operation at KPI from shore to ship equipped with latest advanced, efficient, safe and pollution controlled loading operation.

Should EPC contracts be split based on supply of goods/services?

Yes, it is a common practice to split the EPC contracts based on the supply of goods/services onshore or offshore. This is not only a tool to mitigate tax risks, but also to address other non-tax considerations such as limiting the liability for the contractor and reducing the cost of complying with local licensing regulations.
